

WHY NO SLABBING ?

We do not Slab cards or Comics as there is no need to restrict the owner from the best proven storage solution.

Why slab?

To preserve the condition after it has been graded or control of the product. You can't ever read it again or verify the condition to a new buyer because it is in a sealed case. A case that either goes back to the company that slabbed it to open it or take the risk of breaking it out of the case. Can you break open the case without damaging the item?

Slabbed Comics and Cards are not vacuumed sealed. There is atmosphere left in the slab that can create moisture when exposed to extreme temperature changes. A comic with multiple pages must be able to breath.

Most companies that slab, put the item in plastic sleeves that have no guarantee of life span. There is no assurance these sleeves won't hurt the item through chemical breakdown.

When replacing this sleeve of a slabbed item, it must be sent back to the company that slabbed the item for replacement at a fee.

To remove the item from the slab without the proper equipment, the item may be damaged.

The slab is not waterproof if emerged into water. There is no testing for leaks after the slab is sealed.

The thought that an item slabbed makes it tamperproof is not true. With the proper equipment, the slab can be opened and the item removed or switched. The slab can be resealed with no evidence of ever being opened.

Not a great idea to slab items once you look into it.
