

WHY REGISTRATION ?

Items are stolen, lost in fires, floods or for example lost in a move to a new residence. In each case, you must prove you owned the item and to get the true replacement value, the condition.

A collection was stolen recently and it had 1 of 1 items in it. When the owner saw these items listed for sale on the internet, there was no evidence that the items were from the stolen collection. The owners word vs. the seller. The owner lost the battle.

This is the reason for our Patent Pending process that provides you a certificate that links the item to the current owner and allows the item to be transferred to a new owner through a sale or making it a gift.

These certificates can be shared with your insurance company to make sure you have proper coverage incase you have a loss or assisting in establishing an estate value.

The Certificate should be kept in a secure place with other important documents. However, if the certificate is lost, SNM maintains a digital copy that can be requested from the account holder.

As a buyer, you can be assured that items with the SNM Certificate is not stolen and has a traceable providence. A non-broken Hologram seal confirms the item has not been tampered with or exchanged.
